

The County will conduct all operations with the highest level of accountability, transparency and ethics. In word and action, the County will continue to promote a culture that reminds employees that serving the public is a privilege and demands the highest level of accountability in all we do. The County will continue to provide ethics trainings and continually focus employees on their moral, legal, and ethical responsibilities as a public servant.