

The Archeology of Trauma and Redemption

This course meets the qualifications for 6 hours of continuing education credit for MFTs and/or LCSWs as required by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences.

Friday July 22, 2011

6 CE Credits

10am – 5pm

$140.00

This workshop will provide participants with a deeper understanding of neurophysiology and the integration of culture and spirituality in trauma work.

COURSE CONTENT

- Exploring the architecture of the stress response
- Weaving psychotherapeutic and neurophysiological interventions
- Spirituality and the relationship between health and illness
- Assessing and identifying cultural and spiritual strengths
- Identifying and working with cultural and spiritual archetypes

Presenters:

Christopher Howard, Psy.D. is a licensed clinician as well as Adjunct faculty at Antioch University, Santa Barbara. His work has been presented at Duke University's first annual conference on "Spirituality, Health and Human Flourishing: Meaning? Measurement? Implications?" He is in private practice and continues active research in state of the art mindbody interventions, integrating psychotherapy with neurophysiology. His most recent publication addresses the neurobiology of intimate partner violence.

Joanne Rossi, MA, LPCC, is a seasoned trauma specialist and continuing education provider in New Mexico. For over thirty years she has continued to research and learn from traditional folk healers of the Americas. In private practice she also serves as the Clinical Advisor/Educator for Paws & Stripes, an organization providing services for assistance dogs and combat vets experiencing posttraumatic stress disorder and TBI's.

Workshop will be located at 4173 Santa Fe Road in San Luis Obispo, California. Early registration is recommended and can be sent to: Dr. Christopher Howard, 855 4th Street, Suite 8, Pismo Beach CA, 93449. For further information, please call (805) 674-2252.

BBS Provider # PCE 4933