Subject: Stop Phillips 66 Oil Trains Proposal!

I'm a California resident that travels, frequently, to your area to vacation so I wanted to give my opinion, on Phillips 66 proposal for rails to carry oil.

Was shocked to even see such a proposal so I am following from Northern California. Feel Phillips is "refusing to address a transition to clean energy" with such a proposal. The millions they would spend could be better served "revolutionizing wind and solar" with goal of reducing emissions and dependence on dirty energy?

Allowing this in California would be "a virtual slap in face of a State meant to lead in clean air?"

We're not Texas (I am from there and walked beaches with tar oozing between my toes from Phillips and BP, etc) so please reject this proposal and any appeals they may present to Board of Supervisors.

They will destroy our environment as they have done in coastal waters of South. I know, I lived it. Winds shift and you run inside from BP and add their ocean rigs exploding and leaking to this day? Trains derail and tankers crash in the inter coastal canals in the fog...

We are smarter than Texas... Do not set us on road backwards, rather, lead towards the future of clean & renewal energy.

Sincerely,
