To Whom this may Concern:

I understand that the SLO County Supervisors are contemplating the approval of a granite quarry in the area of Santa Margarita. I write this e-mail in opposition to this proposal.

I live in coastal San Diego County and for years have enjoyed the quiet village of Santa Margarita and the nearby Santa Margarita Lake. We enjoy the camping, the lake and the wonderful hiking trails. It is our chance to get away from the bustle of San Diego and relax in a wonderful, peaceful environment. A rock quarry with dynamite blasting, rock dust, and heavy trucks will end this for us and our visits to your fine area.

I hope you will also take into consideration how a rock quarry is going to negatively impact the quiet, peacefulness for those residents who live in the area and would be so irrevocably harmed by the presence of a rock quarry for the next 50 years.

Sincerely,

Gregg Rolfsmeyer
