One-Mile Water Well Search Tool with Search Results

Search results include water well construction, repair/modification and/or dry well replacement (not separately tracked prior to 2014) records and information obtained therefrom for water wells that have been constructed as discussed below and mapped by the County of San Luis Obispo ("County"), Environmental Health Services ("EHS") in the general vicinity of the location information used to base the search (e.g., address, selected location on the map, or geo-location). Please be advised that the mapping on which this search tool is based is only updated on a quarterly basis. If records for water wells for which construction has not yet been completed or for water wells which have been recently constructed are desired, a 2 Year Water Well Permit Lookup Dashboard (includes pending permits) and an Export of Completed Water Well Inventory since 1965 in CSV, both of which are updated on a weekly basis, are also available on the One Mile Well Search Tool page.

Please also be advised that the search results depict the mapped locations only of water wells for which a construction or repair/modification permit was obtained from EHS between 1965 to the present and for which EHS received notification that construction was completed (EHS does not map well destructions). The mapping is based on the best available historical data compiled from the EHS well construction permit application process. All mapped well sites are approximations of the actual well site locations, regardless of the source (e.g., well permit application or permit, well completion report, site map) or format (e.g., GPS coordinates, APN, narrative description) of the best available location information.

Please be further advised that neither the County nor EHS can guarantee the accuracy of the information provided, including any information derived from the EHS parent well database and subset of well mapping. Thus, wells not located within a one-mile radius may be identified and wells within a one-mile radius may fail to be identified, and independent verification of all information provided should be obtained prior to subsequent use. If no wells are identified, other resources include the County of San Luis Obispo Assessor's Parcel Search (to search for an active APN) and the California Department of Water Resources (to submit a request for a well completion report). Lastly, please note EHS has made only redacted versions of well completion reports available (personal information redacted) as required by Water Code Section 13752 as well as similarly redacted versions of well construction permit applications because the redacted versions are readily accessible in electronic format. To obtain unredacted versions of well permit applications, please contact EHS at (805) 781-5544 or submit an online PRA request.
